1. In late July the Kwangtung Military District Command sent a total of twenty 105mm and 155mm artillery pieces to Jaop'ing (116-48, 23-58) for installation there.
2. All these artillery pieces are to be manned by Russians.
3. In mid-July 50 artillery troops of the Chinese Communist 43 Army were selected for intensive artillery training to be given by Soviet instructors at Kochou (葛洲) in the Chaoyang (116-35, 23-17) area.
4. In early August 1,500 physically fit men 18 to 25 years old were recruited in Yangchiang and Yangch'um (111-42, 22-08) by the Kwangtung Military District Command and organized into the Liang Yang (兩陽) Militia Detachment with AO Ching-han (敖景涵) as the commanding officer. They are now in training in the Yangchiang area.
5. On 5 August, 1,200 Chinese Communist soldiers, wounded in Korea and rehabilitated at hospitals in the Canton area, were assembled at Tapei (大北) Army Hospital in the Canton area, where they were lectured by HUANG Yung-sheng, commander of the Chinese Communist 15 Army Group.¹ They all left the same day for Shaho (113-19, 23-09) under the command of WEN Chi-min (溫濟民), head of the political operations department, 2 Army Hospital, Central and South China Military Area Command. They will all soon leave for Huiyang (114-26, 23-05) and from there they will be sent as replacements to Chinese Communist 41 Army elements in the Swatow-Chaoan area.²
6. On 22 July, 680 former Nationalist troops, thoroughly indoctrinated since their capture on Hainan early in 1950, were sent by Chinese Communist authorities in Hainan to Canton from Haikou by water. They were accompanied by Chinese Communist cadre members. They will all soon leave by train for combat in Korea.
